Welcome to EXCEL REVIEW CENTER!

This Reviewee's Handbook is intended as a guide for all reviewees of Excel Review Center. It contains information about the review center, its policies, rules and regulations. It also contains information about the policies and guidelines of the Professional Regulation Commission (PRC).

This handbook aims to bring out the best in every reviewee so that he/she may be able to prepare for the licensure examinations and eventually become licensed engineers. Moreover, this handbook aims to help every reviewee to be aware of the processes in the filing and registration for the board examinations as well as the rules in the actual exam itself. Every reviewee is expected to be familiar with the contents of this handbook.

Claiming ignorance of any of the provisions of this handbook is by itself an admission of negligence to know the objectives, regulations and practices of Excel Review Center as well as the Professional Regulation Commission.

God Bless!

ENGR. JAIME R. TIONG
President

II – VISION | MISSION | CORE VALUES

VISION : To be the Philippines’ premier and best provider of student-centered and performance-oriented quality review.

MISSION : To deliver excellent review program in a culture of continuously adapting the latest technology available.

CORE VALUES : Excel Review Center was founded with the following core values:

EXcellence, Commitment, Enthusiasm, Leadership

III - HISTORY

Excel Review Center was founded in 1991 at Vicente Gullas Street (formerly Manalili St.) in downtown Cebu City and started operation with only 12 reviewees. One year later, its first board topnotcher, Engr. Glenn Paul Go (10th Placer) from the University of San Carlos, was produced. In the following year, its first reviewer, the ECE Licensure Guidebook, was published. In that same year, it became the largest ECE review center outside Metro Manila.

In 1995, it became the first review center to use computer program to simulate the computerized licensure exam.

It opened a branch in Manila in 1996. In the two board exams that year, it produced its two first-placers, Engr. John Lamberte of the University of San Carlos and Engr. Edwin Medicielo of the University of the East. In that year also, a total of 33 topnotchers in the two board exams were produced and then it eventually became the largest ECE review center in the country.

It set another milestone in April 1997 by becoming the first and only review center to completely sweep the Top 10 places in the ECE board exams. The following year, it produced its 100th board topnotcher.

As the new millennium turned, it continued its unmatched performance by once again producing two first-placers in the two ECE board exams. In the same year, it offered EE review for the first time and immediately produced its first three EE board topnotchers.

In 2001, it repeated its feat achieved in 1997 by sweeping again the Top 10 places in the ECE board exams. In the November examinations, it set another milestone, this time by becoming the first and only review center to sweep the Top 20 places. This unparalleled achievement was repeated in 2002 ECE board exams.

In 2004, it went online by launching its website, www.excelreviewcenter.com. In 2005, it produced its 20th first-placer, Engr. Elvin Ivan Uy of De La Salle University. In the same year, it received three national awards as Most Outstanding Review Center of the Philippines and received another two national awards the following year.

It took another step forward in 2006 when it registered itself as a corporation, Excel First Review and Training Center, Inc. The following year, an even bigger step was taken when it became the first and only engineering review center in the country to undergo and successfully passed all the stringent requirements and standards set for review centers by the Commission on Higher Education (CHED) and was granted permit numbers 16 and 25 in accordance with Executive Order No. 566.

In 2009, it started the construction of its new home – a 5-storey building in the heart of Cebu City. The building is complete with amenities and a 2-storey dormitory for its reviewees. It is the first and only engineering review center to own and operate on its own building, a genuine testament to Excel Review Center's commitment.

As of the writing of this handbook, it has produced 28 FIRST PLACERS, 490 BOARD TOPNOTCHERS, 20,481 BOARD PASSERS and has published over 20 review books. It is also the only engineering review center to have SWEPT THE TOP 10 PLACES FOR 7 TIMES and TOP 20 PLACES FOR 2 TIMES.

VII- REVIEW PROGRAMS

The review program is comprehensive in the sense that is composed of three different phases of intensive preparation, namely:

REVIEW COURSE: A lecture/discussion type covering the basic theories, principles, problems and applications as well as some advanced topics included in the board syllabus. The topics are based from the updated PRC Board Syllabus.

REFRESHER COURSE: An examination-discussion type of instruction. The reviewees are subjected to a series of examinations patterned from the board exams where actual past board examinations are included. They are given questionnaires and answer sheets and are required to use pencils in shading the correct answer. This is intended to acquaint each one to the actual test. The exam is to be discussed thoroughly right after or on the next meeting for the reviewees to evaluate their performances.

COACHING COURSE: This is the final phase of preparation, which is more or less 3 weeks in duration. This is intended to fine-tune reviewees to the much awaited board exam. This consists generally of classroom coaching notes and slides which are to be read with the reviewers around to entertain questions personally.

VIII. EVALUATION SYSTEMS

i. DIAGNOSTIC EXAMS

Every after the orientation program at the start of the review classes, diagnostic tests in all board subjects are to be administered for the reviewees' test of residual knowledge and for the review center to know strong and weak areas of the reviewees. This is one factor which contributes the basis of focus of concentration of the review course.

ii. TAKE HOME EXAMS

Every meeting in the review, a take home exam of the subject matter is given as an assignment but should be submitted (answer sheet only) the next meeting. This is to ensure that the reviewee will immediately make a follow up at home of the topics lectured as he/she is required to answer the assignment.

iii. WEEKLY EXAMS

Weekly comprehensive examinations are to be given for the reviewees to assess retention of the topics discussed the whole week.

iv. PRE-BOARD EXAMS

Pre-board examinations or mock board examinations are to be conducted after the end of the regular review course (phase 1 of preparation) for them to finally know what areas (subjects) need fine-tuning.

The pre-board examinations are conducted in schools with the board-like atmosphere. The exams are given simultaneously in Excel Cebu and Manila branches to provide a nationwide ranking of its reviewees. Examinees are required to wear the prescribed PRC dress code. They will be using similar answer sheet used by PRC and the answer sheets are corrected using an OMR machine. This is intended for reviewees to be acquainted with the actual board exam.

iv. e-REVIEW

This program is a multiple choice type examination conducted through the use of a computer program. A total of 50 computers (Excel Manila) and 33 computers (Excel Cebu) all with flat-screen LCD monitors are readily available for this value-added service.

Under this program, the reviewee will be answering multiple-choice tests and will be rated instantly. Also, correct answer will be shown right after the reviewee made a wrong choice.

The e-Review database contains thousands of MCQs in all the board subjects. To access the e-Review database, a reviewee will present his/her e-Review card together with Excel ID upon entering the computer room.

For further guidelines, please refer to the e-Review Card and some announcements at the computer room.

v. ONLINE REVIEW

This program enables the reviewee to practice answering frequently-asked multiple choice questions through our website, www.excelreviewcenter.com.

Akin to e-Review, reviewee is rated instantly. The database for online review is different from e-Review database.

To access, log on to www.excelreviewcenter.com, then under interact menu, click “hands online”. Each reviewee is given an online account (username and password) upon paying the reservation fee.

IX - OTHER SERVICES/PROGRAMS

i. EVALUATION

For purposes of evaluation, the school may, upon formal request, ask from the review center a copy of the performance in the weekly and pre-board examinations and/or attendance record of their graduates. Likewise, parents/guardians of a reviewee may request for their son’s/daughter’s performance/attendance in the review classes.

ii. GUIDANCE

Guidance counselling regarding professional and even personal life is available when sought.

iii. SEMINARS/SYMPOSIA
